Case Study 1: Chinese Property Sales Showed Strong Recovery Trend in March 2020

Notes: Based on data provided by China Real Estate Information Corporation (CRIC)

Seasonal 1Q Pre-Sales

2016 – 2020 quarterly pre-sales

1Q 2016 – 2020 pre-sales

1Q pre-sales is seasonally lower historically, largely due to homebuyers and tenants moving in before the Lunar New Year, while 2H would experience stronger sales

YoY contraction also due to 1Q2019 being supported by the first full quarter sales of Vinhomes Ocean Park and Vinhomes Smart City

What Did We Do?

- Offered more value instead of cutting prices
- Ensured on-schedule delivery to enhance reputation while competitors defaulted or missed delivery deadlines
- Launched non-cash cross-selling promotions (Vinschool, Vinmec) to stimulate demand
- Won customers and recovered faster than competition

Did We Reduce Prices?

- Did not cut prices as homebuyers would wait for lower prices
- Offered more value for money by leveraging cross-selling opportunities (Vinmec, Vinschool)
- On-schedule delivery was critically important as many developers defaulted for missed delivery deadlines

How Is This Time Different?

- The situation is much harder to predict, as specially when vaccine for Covid-19 has not yet been found
- Homebuyers hold on to cash and wait for good pricing opportunities but supply is limited
- Mortgage homebuyers have been asking for credit support from banks as a part of the US$12.2bn credit support package
- Launch Vinhomes Online to promote sales and cut costs. Offer cross-selling promotions with VinFast and VinSmart
